The Daily Courant.

Wednesday, December 1. 1714.

London, December 1.
Yesterday arrived a Mail from Holland.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, dated Dec. 7.

Vienna, November 24.

GENERAL Stanhope, Minister and Secretary of State to his Britannick Majesty, and the Lord Cobham, Envoy from the same King, arrived here the 22d; and the former had private Audience the same Day of the Emperour.

Basil, Nov. 29. We hear from Waldshut, that General Arnau sent 400 Men from Constance to go to take Possession of Friburg; but those Troops being arrived near the Place, the French Commander let them know that he had not yet received Order to evacuate it; the 400 Men are therefore returned to Constance, and an Express is sent to Vienna to inform the Court of it. However, the French continue to demolish the Works of Huninguen that lie on the other Side of the Rhine, but they have not yet touched the Foundations, and they keep the Palliadoes in their Magazines.

Dresden, Nov. 27. 'Tis said that the Landgrave of Hesse-Cassel has concluded an Alliance with the King of Sweden, whereby he engages to assist his Swedish Majesty with 10 or 12000 Men, upon Condition that those Troops shall never be employed against any Potentate of the Empire, and principally Saxony. 'Tis said his Serene Highness has given Advice of it to our Electoral Court, and that an Answer from thence is already sent to Cassel.

Francfort, Nov. 30. The Report spread here, that the French had evacuated Friburg and Old Brisac, is not confirmed; and we understand on the contrary that they refuse to do it before Bavaria is evacuated by the Imperialists. In the mean time the French continue to demolish the Fort of Selingen, and the other Forts which lie on the other Side of the Rhine.

Hamburgh, Nov. 30. 'Letters from Copenhagen say, that they talk much of the King's departure for Holstein; and that they have again on the 24th intercepted Letters of dangerous Importance, which Count Steinbock was sending secretly into Sweden, which has occasioned stricter Watch to be set upon him. The Commissaries of War, after having finished their Examinations, are returned to Gottorp, where they will wait the Arrival of the King to render him an Account of their Proceedings. Upon the Advice which the Generals of the Army which are quartered at Itzehoa have received of the Arrival of the King of Sweden at Straelsund, they have dispatched Orders to all their Regiments to hold themselves in readiness to march at an Hour's Warning. We hear from Straelsund, that the King of Sweden gave an Audience of four Hours to Count Vander Nath, during which time he listened with great Patience and Attention to his Relation of the Course of Affairs in Holstein, and the Conduct of the Administrator and Ministers of that Country. His Majesty even took the pains to read and examine all the Instructions which had been given to the Ministers of Holstein who were sent into foreign Courts; and particularly the Instructions that were given to the Envoy Rasewick, when he went to Stettin and Petersburg, and disapproved of his Conduct, declaring that that Minister was the Cause of the Court of Holstein's being every where decryed, and that he must come to give an Account of himself. Count Vander Nath has written to his Friends, that in spite of all his Enemies he had been graciously received by his Majesty, and that he promises himself a happy change in his Affairs. Many are of Opinion that the King of Sweden spoke with the Landgrave and the Hereditary Prince of Hesse-Cassel upon his Journey. The Landgrave his nevertheless sent an Express to the Regency of Saxony, with Assurances that he should not let any of his Troops march into Saxony; but there is little Appearance that they confide much in those Assurances; for the last Letters from Saxony advise, that tho' the Militia which were marching that way are indeed countermanded, it is firmly resolved upon to bring all the regular Troops out of Poland; and 'tis supposed that even before Christmas they will be posted in the Quarters that shall be found most convenient for the Defence of that Electorate. The Designs of the King of Sweden cannot yet be penetrated. 'Tis thought General Ducker has counselled him to go first to Sweden, in order to provide for the Security of the interior Part of the Kingdom, and give such Directions as may be wanting for opposing the Invasion of the Muscovites in the North: But it seems as if the Advice of the Counts Welling and Vander Nath, whose Interest leads them to keep the King at a Distance from the Senate of Stockholm, hath prevailed; for 'tis given out that the Swedes have already begun to furnish a Place of Arms and Magazines at Rostock. 'Tis certain however that their Army is at present unfit for Action for want of Horses, which the King endeavours to remedy, by ordering General Lieban to buy up at any Price 4000 Horses in Sweden, and to transport them to Pomerania with all Expedition. The Duke of Mecklenburg also has published an Order, that all the Horses in his Country fit for the Service shall be brought in; and Count Vander Nath has sent Captain Parmentier hither to employ the Jockeys in buying up as many Horses as they can find fit for remounting the Troops. The Regiment of Horse of that Count being the best that there is in Pomerania, 'tis said the King will make use of it for his Regiment of Guards during the time that he remains in Germany.

Hague, Dec. 4. 'The States General have done the same with the Memorial of M. Pettkum they did with that of M. Palmquist, which were both upon the same Subject, namely, to desire the Execution of the Guaranty of the Treaty of Travendahl; that is, have put it into the Hands of a Committee to be examined, which is a soft way of dismissing what they do not care to give a direct Answer to. The College of the Nobility of Holland were extraordinarily assembled last Friday, to consider of the choice of one amongst them for the Ambassy to England. 'Tis said no Determination was made in it, but it will be again discoursed in the Assembly of the States of Holland to Morrow, and 'tis believed the choice will fall upon M. de Quyvenwoorde.

'A certain Minister of good Credit here, has shewn some People an old Plan of a Design in the Year 1654, which is the same that they are now at work upon at Mardyke, which shews that the Spaniards had so long ago the same Design which France at this time is executing, but the great Expence of it diverted them from undertaking it.

THere is lately come from Paris to the Tennis-Court in James-ſtreet near the Hay-Market, a moſt ſurprizing Company of German Gentlemen and Women, who far exceed all that have been hitherto in England, in Vaulting and ſeveral other Performances on the Rope: But above all, the Wonder of the World, the Prodigy in Nature, is a ſtrong Man that performs ſuch wonderful Actions that nothing but Ocular Demonſtration can give any Idea of, and what has hitherto been done of this Nature Childiſh and Ridiculous; as in particular, he ſuffers 6 Men to break a Stone of 400 Weight on his Belly by large Smith's Hammers, likewiſe he ſuffers the ſame thing to be done on his Breaſt. He lifts from the Ground with one Hand a Horſe of a large Size, with a Man on it; alſo a Cannon of 2000 weight from the Ground with one Hand. With many other things, too many for the Compoſing of an Advertiſement, but which may be ſeen more at large in his Bills to be had at the Tennis Court aforeſaid, where he begins every Evening at 5 a Clock. Places from 5 s. to 6 d. Note, 'Tis at the Tennis Court, and not the Fives Court, that the Strong Man and his Company give ſuch general Satisfaction. There are Fives in all the Rooms.

For the Diverſion of the Quality and Gentry.

AT the Fives-Court, at the Lower-End of St. Martin's-ſtreet, near Hedge-lane, is Mr. Ryvois, lately come over from the Court of France, who has brought with him a compleat Company of Rope Dancers, and join'd with the Widow Barnes's Company; where you will ſee performed the beſt of Rope-Dancing, Vaulting, and Slack-Rope, ſome particular Italian Performances, and eſpecially the Ladder danced by Mr. Harvey the only Maſter of Europe. You will be Entertain'd with a good Conſort of Muſick, and the diverting Humours of your Old Friend Pickle-Herring; and Mr. Nivelon will dance the French Peaſant Drunken Dance, as it is now danced at the Opera at Paris. We ſhall endeavour to entertain the Quality every Night with freſh Diverſions. The loweſt Price 6 d. The next 1 s. Pit 18 d. Stage 2 s. 6 d. To begin this Evening at 6 a Clock, and to be continued every Evening at the ſame Hour. Note, It is not in the Tennis Court where the Company perform'd laſt Year; but 'tis in the Fives Court the loweſt end of St. Martin's-ſtreet near Leiceſter-fields.
